About This Training Session:

This training session was a special request by the City of Columbia Falls, but I'm sure many of you could benefit from this training. Mueller Company has provided training in the past for Montana Rural Water Systems sessions. Mueller Company has always provided a diverse presentation and covered all makes of hydrants. You let them know what you have and they most generally will be able to cover the parts breakdown of your system's hydrants.

About Our Speaker:

Greg Howells is the area sales representative for Mueller Company. He is very knowledgeable about hydrants, valves, extensions, and many of the other components that make up a distribution system. He will not only cover Mueller products, but is well versed in how the other manufacturers products work. Mike will give you some field tips and installation techniques designed to help you increase your knowledge of Mueller and other products. His training sessions are relaxed and friendly, and hopefully as much fun as they are informative.

Please pass on this training information to your local fire department personnel. This training would benefit them as well & they are welcome to attend!!!
